In the Supreme Court
Sitting as Court of Civil Appeals
Before Justices Agranat, Berenson and Landau

Bayit Meshulal "G" Ltd., Appellants, v. Avraham and Moshe Lampert, Respondents
(C.A. 497/54)

Injunction to Prevent Undermining Foundations of Neighbour's Property

The Supreme Court dismissed an appeal against the judgment of the Tel Aviv District Court delivered on November 11, 1954 (C.O. 390/54).

Mr. Kolodny appeared for the appellants, Mr. Makliss for the respondents.

The appellants are the owners of a plot of land in Petah Tikva which adjoins the property, consisting of an old building, belonging to the respondents. The appellants excavated their building, since the remaining strip of land was about to be subdivided and a new building was to be erected on the same level as the old building. The respondents claimed that the excavations had endangered their building, since the remaining strip of land was about to be subdivided and a new building was to be erected on the same level as the old building.

The District Court found that the appellants had committed a tort by excavating the land, and ordered them to stop the excavations and to build a supporting wall on the boundary between the two plots and plant containing grass from the edge of the excavations until the building of the respondents land, holding that it was not necessary to go to the extent of building a wall.

The appellants argued, firstly, that only if the respondents land had actually collapsed would there be a claim for damages; secondly, that the damage feared by the respondents was not of their land; and, thirdly, that the mandatory injunction was not to be enforced as it differed from the remedy requested by the respondents.

Judgment
Justice Landau, with whom Justices Agranat and Berenson concurred, said with regard to the first argument that a person's right to have his land supported by the land of his neighbour could be infringed in two stages: firstly, as a result of excavation on one plot of land, a potential danger to the land of the neighbouring land is created; secondly, the damage becomes actual when the neighbouring land subsides as a result of the loss of lateral support. The English practice, he said, recognizes only the second stage as affording a cause of action for damages.

But this rule, the Justice held, is not applicable to an injunction. Indeed it would be most peculiar if a landowner whose property was in immediate danger of destruction due to the activities of his neighbour, could not secure himself against future apprehended loss, but had to wait for a remedy until such time as his property was actually ruined. The very essence of the remedy provided by an injunction is its capacity for total prevention of the threatened harm.

Members of the survey team are: Dr. Gardner H. Chidester, Chief of the Division of Pulp and Paper, Forest Products Laboratory of the U.S. Forest Service in Madison, Wisconsin, and Mr. Claude Levy, Chief Engineer of the Pulp Department of Parsons and Whittemore in France.

Mr. M. Shaver, the Honorary President of the Histadrut Campaign in Detroit, with his wife, Emma, for a three-week visit. Benedicta Capomazza, marchese di Campolattini, from home leave (by L.A.).

DEPARTURES

A team of Geva Films to film the Israel-U.S.S.R. football game in Moscow (by El Al).

THE HOLON Municipal Council has appropriated £1,000 for the acquisition of 1,500 tourists.

320 TOURISTS arrived from Turkey yesterday in the Istanbul for a two-week visit.

THOUSANDS OF BALES of straw went up in flames in a fire on the fields of Moshav Merhavia in the Central Emek yesterday. Fire lanes dug around the burning fields stopped the blaze from spreading.

A CINEMA strike has been approved by the Tel Aviv Labour Council following the refusal of the cinema owners to increase the salaries of employees. The date for the strike has not yet been fixed.

EL AL PLACES ILBm. Order with U.K. Firm. The Manager of El Al's Material Control Department, Mr. Victor Atoun, is to leave for Britain today to place an ILBm order for engines and parts with the Bristol Aircraft Company, El Al has informed The Jerusalem Post. The order is connected with the purchase of three "Britannia" airliners by El Al which are due for delivery in July, 1957.

M.K. Calls for Cut In Gov't Spending. Jerusalem Post Reporter. Austerity in Government expenditure would aid the current fight against inflation, Dr. Y. Forer, M.K., said last night at a meeting held under the auspices of the Government's Finance and Civil Education Services at the Beit Hahatutot in Jerusalem.

Dr. Forer said that it was imperative for the country to reduce its adverse trade balance to $100m. a year within five or six years or the country would be faced by dangerous economic consequences. He also suggested that the Government system of subsidies should be gradually eliminated to liberalize the economy.

Dr. Forer came out strongly for a full revision of the tax system, saying that the ceiling of 50 per cent tax should be raised in the higher brackets while he seconded the present Government plan to lower the marginal income of mid-class earners.

B-G GETS GIFT OF SUGAR. Prime Minister Ben-Gurion yesterday received Mr. Y. Berger, manager of the Pilsner Beer Factory, who presented him with a sample of the factory's first produce.

KNESSET. He was speaking "for part of all parties" to the Knesset. Mr. I. Raphael (Hapoel Hamizrabi-Mizrabi) also took issue with the definition of the Knesset. On the one hand, the Knesset was more than a legislature. But on the other, could it legislate on every subject, without limitation?

He charged that Mapai wished to change the election system after having thrice failed to win a majority in the Knesset. Voters should be required to be able to read and write, Mr. Raphael said. He also urged that the law fix a quorum for the Knesset.

Distorted elections were termed "undemocratic" by Mr. Erem, who said that the last election had settled this question. Both Mr. Erem and Mr. Rubin urged that a committee of inquiry be appointed as the request of even a minority of the Knesset. In any event, the majority would decide the composition of such committee, Mr. Rubin pointed out.

He said that the idea of district elections was a "dead horse." All the talk on the subject had one goal: to convert a minority in the people to a majority in the Knesset. There was no direct connection between district elections and "contact with the electorate," he said.

The debate continues.

Short Respite In Bus Strike Threat

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, Monday. — The threat of a bus strike, which has been hanging over the head of the Israel public for some weeks, has been postponed for a further three weeks following a meeting between the Histadrut Central Committee and representatives of the bus co-operatives.

At today's meeting, which lasted from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m., the bus companies warned that they will brook no interference with the standard of living of their members. They promised to consider the payment of equal wages for members of the co-operatives and their employees, but not before the question of fare increases had been satisfactorily settled.

They rejected the suggested increase of 8 per cent. Now, the period between now and the next meeting of the companies are ready to have their calculations investigated on which they base their demand for a 6 per cent increase in fares. But they stated that if by the 31st of the month, no mutually acceptable solution has been found, they will feel free to take whatever action they see fit.

Textile Strikers Hold Out. TEL AVIV, Monday. — The strike at the Kutna textile factory will continue tomorrow despite an appeal made today by the Secretary of the local Labour Council that the employees should obey the decision of the Histadrut and return to work.

The Textile Committee of the Manufacturers Association decided today to ask the Histadrut Trades Union Department to meet with them and discuss the refusal to return to work of the employees of the Kutna and Sakonia mills.

The manufacturers claim that the continuation of the strike is a violation of the agreement signed last Thursday between the Histadrut and the Association.

A further meeting of the Textile Committee will take place today.

Hormone-Fed Fowl Safe, Gov't Inquiry Shows. Jerusalem Post Reporter.

Repeated experiments in Great Britain and the U.S. show that there is absolutely no danger in eating hormone-fed poultry, Dr. I. Katzenellenbogen, head of an inter-ministerial commission set up to investigate the effect on human health of such fowl, stated in Jerusalem yesterday.

The female hormone, oestrogen, is injected into cockerels to speed their growth. Dr. Katzenellenbogen was commenting on reports which quoted Dr. M. Peretz, head of the Poultry Division of the Agriculture Faculty in Rehovot, as saying that such birds were a danger to human health and possibly to fertility.

Both the Ministry of Health and Dr. Katzenellenbogen reiterated yesterday that not a single case of sexual disorders had been found in Israel since hormone-fed fowl had been eaten.

The danger in eating the heads or necks of such birds was extremely small, these sources stated. There was a possibility of an adverse cumulative effect in persons who ate a large number of chicken heads and necks, they said.

Experiments in injecting this hormone into cattle were now being carried out in this country, Dr. Katzenellenbogen said.

64 Children Had Polio Last Month. Sixty-four children, of whom 12 died, contracted poliomyelitis during June, as compared with 81 cases — eight fatal — during the same month last year. In May, 28 children came down with the disease, three of whom died.

No rise in polio incidence is expected this month, it was learned yesterday from the Epidemiology Division of the Ministry of Health.

Hotter weather increased the number of dysentery cases to 1,783 in June as compared with 614 in May.

An outbreak of typhoid in the Rehovot area raised the incidence of this disease from 29 to 60 during these two months.

A total of 410 cases of measles were reported in June as compared with 401 cases the previous month.

FOR ILLEGAL OVERTAKING. Arye Markovitch, of Jerusalem, yesterday had his driving license suspended for one year by the Jerusalem Magistrate's Court. He has had previous convictions.

The Ben Elfrith Home was opened the following year. During the years of the Home, the safety and health of the children was secured due to the heroic efforts of Mrs. Dux and her staff. The events at the Home during the war were the basis for the film "Faithful City." Last February, the Home was moved from cramped quarters in the second story of a building in Abayim Street to new premises in Beit Yoram.

Mr. Dux is survived by his second wife, Ruth Citron Dux, his daughter, Naomi, and his brother, Ya'acov. Naomi took place yesterday at Givat Shaul cemetery.

Talks Continue On Moroccan Aliya

Jerusalem Post Reporter

Step by step negotiations are being held by Jewish representatives with the Moroccan authorities and it is hoped that the talks will eventually have positive results, Mr. Ya'acov Tsur, Ambassador to France, told a meeting of the Jewish Agency Executive yesterday, according to an Agency communiqué.

The Moroccan authorities have clamped down on mass emigration. He was giving a detailed report on the information which had been received in Paris on the situation in Morocco.

Mr. Tsur is to meet tomorrow with the President of the Zionist General Council. The Executive's Acting Chairman, Mr. Z. Shazar, announced yesterday that the "smaller" Zionist General Council, which has two thirds of its 33 members in Israel, will meet in Jerusalem on August 24.

Stark Warning to drivers green drivers on Keshet Hill near Jerusalem where wreckage of truck involved in crash on June 1, in which two persons were killed, has been transformed into permanent monument. Sign beside wreckage reads: "These are the results of speeding on this downgrade. Remain in low gear!"

License of Egg Driver Suspended Following 3 Accidents, 4 Fatalities. HAIFA, Monday. — An Egg driver who in the past six years has been involved in three accidents in which four persons lost their lives, had his driving license suspended pending trial.

Za'ev Orla, a member of the co-operative, was arrested last month after he had been involved in a collision with a cyclist Ya'acov Avergil, 37, at Hadera. Although told by passengers that he had hit a man, the driver did not stop, police say.

Orla is also awaiting trial for an accident in December, 1954, near Petah Tikva, in which two persons were killed. He was acquitted of responsibility for another fatal accident in 1950.

The chief of the Haifa traffic police, Mr. M. Shlasky, suspended his license for 30 days after the June accident. This year, the maximum period of suspension which the law grants him, The District Attorney then asked the Court for continued suspension until his trial. Judge E. Slonim granted the request in view of the serious charges for which the accused is awaiting trial.

Dr. Mead Against Melting Pot. Jerusalem Post Reporter.

BEERSHEBA, Monday. — The U.S. anthropologist, Dr. Margaret Mead, who toured Beersheba and the Northern Negev today, said that she is opposed to the melting-pot system here or anywhere else. It involves the danger of creating a uniform mass and the loss of various national characteristics and customs which should be preserved, she stated.

Dr. Mead first visited one of the medical welfare centres for babies and mothers. When someone remarked to Dr. Mead that she did not ask questions, she replied, "There are no questions to ask. The babies here are so lovely that it is sufficient to look at them."

The next stop was Nevatim, the village settled by immigrants from Cochiti. She saw very little of the Chochinites, but the indigenous population told her of the difficulties faced by the settlement. Dr. Mead remarked that from what she was able to see in a very short time, the settlers lived a much healthier life now than they did abroad.

The anthropologist told correspondents accompanying her that she had a great deal to say about the immigration problem. She said that she had many opportunities to observe it in the U.S. But absorption here is so fast that one day in Israel is equivalent to a year in any other country.

Um Batim, the medical clinic for Beduin, was the next stop. After spending some time at the clinic, she visited the tent of one of the Beduin families. This family is outstanding; they have a bed in the tent, and the wife, whose face was unveiled, spoke fluent Hebrew.

Dr. Mead also observed the work of the military government and of the Ministry of Health, both of which she praised.

The anthropologist was accompanied by her daughter, Cathy, Dr. Phyllis Paigi, an Israeli anthropologist, and Mrs. E. Blocher of the Ministry of Health.

Yehuda Dux Dies Suddenly at 54. Jerusalem Post Reporter.

The death of Mr. Yehuda Dux, director of the Ben Elfrith Home for Maladjusted Children, in the Bayit Yoram quarter, occurred suddenly yesterday morning in Jerusalem. He was 54.

The institution, which for years was the only one of its kind in the country, was created in 1943 by Mr. Dux and his late wife, Fania, on the initiative of Henrietta Szold, as the first "Teheran children" began to arrive.

Mr. Dux was born in Vienna and studied at the University of Vienna. He directed a home for maladjusted children there, but because of political conditions he emigrated to Palestine. He came to work at Beit Malka, a home for delinquent girls.

Mr. Dux worked at odd jobs at the Ben Shimon children's village until he learned Hebrew, became a group leader at Kfar Aroha, and in 1943 came to Jerusalem to work at Beit Malka, a home for delinquent girls.

The Ben Elfrith Home was opened the following year. During the years of the Home, the safety and health of the children was secured due to the heroic efforts of Mrs. Dux and her staff. The events at the Home during the war were the basis for the film "Faithful City." Tomatoes Ditched To Keep Prices Up

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Minister of Commerce and Industry, Mr. Pinhas Sapir, said yesterday that tomatoes are destroyed in order to guarantee the public will participate only in tomorrow's exercise.

Squads of Hagana members were seen throughout the city yesterday, patrolling and carrying out their duties. The squads also rehearsed the rescue efforts that they would undertake during a real emergency.

Today's drill is aimed at testing the co-operation between the various units, as well as their effectiveness in responding to calls.

Tomorrow, the warning blast initiating the day's activities may be sounded at any hour of the day. There will not be one alarm, but many. With the first blast of the siren, all streets will be closed to traffic. Pedestrians must seek refuge in the nearest shelter. Traffic will come to a standstill, and all passengers and drivers will be required to take shelter.

Air raid sirens will be tried out at irregular hours today, tomorrow and on Thursday, Friday and Sunday in Tel Aviv, Haifa, Holon, Bat Yam, Ramat Gan, Be'er Brak, Givatim and Ramat Yishak. In the event of an actual attack, the warning blast will be a warbling note.

names of the Greek gods appeared on the tablets thus making the Greek religion 500 years older than previously thought. A discovery in this connection is the name "Homer." Scholars, disturbed by the organic element in Greek religion, represented by Dionysus, have always maintained the role of a late intruder into Greek religion from the north. Now we know that he is one of the oldest of their gods.

The tablets found at Knossos were of unfired clay, thus temporary documents to be replaced every year. It was the destruction of Knossos by fire at about 1475 B.C.E. which made them permanent.

Dr. Flusser's own original contribution to the understanding of this matter is connected with a drawing of persons bringing tribute to the Egyptian Pharaoh, Thutmose III, found in the tomb of Rekhmure in Egypt among whom can be discerned the Keffu, the Carians from "the islands in the sea," as the Egyptians called them.

It has now been found that beneath the drawing of the Keffu tribute-bearers, there is another, earlier picture which was painted over. Dr. Flusser believes that the latter drawing was a correction resulting from the arrival of the Achaeans, who had occupied Crete after the departure of the Greek mainland.

The second speaker was Dr. Zvi Yavetz, who spoke of the Roman plots against the Jews, and whose lecture reminded the audience of present conditions in several Italian cities, when he referred to illegal building, commissioners raising the price of a house during building, and problems of rent in ancient Rome.

In the afternoon, Prof. I. F. Haer dealt with the relations between Judaism, Christianity and Paganism during the period of Diocletian and Constantine.

The study session is being held under the auspices of the Jewish Historical Society, the Israel General History Society and the Ministry of Education and Culture.

More Than Uranium Needed for A-Bomb. Jerusalem Post Reporter.

The possession of uranium and scientific knowledge are not enough for the production of an atomic bomb, an authoritative source told The Jerusalem Post last night, commenting on reports that the level of Israel's atomic research has been raised.

The statement, according to yesterday's "Ha'aretz," is contained in the July 10 issue of Reporter, an American magazine, in an article on the top secret four-power disarmament discussions in London.

March 1956, the French delegate, Mr. Jules Moch, is quoted as saying that Israel, Japan and West Germany are in a position to manufacture the bomb.

Mapam Leader Quits Party. Mr. Levi Center, a Mapam member of the Knesset Executive Committee, has resigned from the party, "Davar" reported yesterday.

In a letter sent to the Central Committee on Saturday, Mr. Center declared his disagreement with the resolutions passed by the Executive Committee in its 25th session on the 25th of June.

He took exception to the line taken by Mr. Levi Yisraeli, Mapam Secretary-General, who, according to the resolution, identified the party with the world Communist movement.

Mapam can be friendly to the Soviet Union, just as most Israeli workers are friendly to the Soviet Union, but Mapam cannot accept the Marxist-Leninist doctrine, which, according to Mr. Center, fosters the evils of Stalinism.

Also felt that the aims of Socialism were being realized in the proletarian state of Israel, and not by the dictatorship of one party, Mapam, as felt by Mr. Yisraeli and others in the Central Committee.

As these opinions were described as "dangerous to the existence of the party," and "leftist-opportunistic" tactics followed by the Histadrut and in the Government would never achieve the union of all the workers' parties, Mr. Center felt it incumbent on him to resign from the Mapam party.

Debtor from U.K. Faces Creditors

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, Monday. — Having run away from Britain with his girl-friend and leaving behind his wife, a factory and debts totalling £170,000, Mr. A. Kinsley, former owner of the Nobility Upholstering factory, the Dan Hotel and the "Kinsley affair," is trying to bring about agreement between his creditors.

The "Kinsley affair" has been going on for some weeks, and began when Scotland Yard asked the Israel police to trace Mr. Kinsley whom they believed to have fled to his way to this country. The police here traced him through a letter which he sent abroad, and invited him for questioning.

The first meeting between Mr. Kinsley and Messrs. Y. Morris and Y. Korman, who arrived from Britain at the end of last week, took place in Mr. Zeligman's office yesterday, and a further meeting will be held tomorrow, although it is understood that the two men will not be in view of the fact that Mr. Kinsley claims to have no money with which to pay his debts. He has asked to be accepted as an immigrant and is at present on a three-month visa.

Messrs. Morris and Korman claim that Mr. Kinsley passed on to them forged bonds of the firm of Hardy. (Him)

Weinberger Kidnappers Fail To Keep Rendezvous with Mother. NEW YORK, Monday (Reuters). — Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger, mother of five-week-old Peter Weinberger, being held by kidnappers for ransom, today revealed that she had gone to meet the abductees following instructions given her by them.

She made the trip following two phone-calls to the Weinberger home in Westbury, Long Island, by a man the family believes to be the kidnapper, police said. But the man failed to turn up for the rendezvous.

Churches in the Westbury area remained open throughout the day in the hope that the kidnapper would answer Mrs. Weinberger's emotional appeal to leave a message or the child in a church. But the appeal went unanswered and police admitted that they had no fresh clues to work on.

Congregations joined in prayers for the recovery of the baby. An offer to treat with the kidnapper was made on coast-to-coast radio broadcast last night by the well-known columnist Walter Winchell. Mr. Winchell, who claimed that two notorious criminals wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and police had trusted him in the past, said that he would bring his own money for the ransom.

Father Tells Court He Found Daughter Crying Outside Door

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, Monday. — "My wife woke me up at three or four o'clock in the morning and told me that our daughter was outside the door, and at the same time I heard the little one calling 'Mother, mother,' in a weak voice," the father of three children said today during the preliminary investigation of the case against the kidnappers of Peter Weinberger.

Several other trips to the fire dump were made by the accused in the company of Police Corporal Yisraeli, who gave evidence today. Corporal Yisraeli told the court that he had interrogated the accused on June 21, some 12 hours after the crime had been committed. He identified a shirt worn and trousers which belonged to the accused and which he had found in the home of his sister.

In a statement made at a later date, he had stated that he had been injured at work and was unable to go to work. He had been in the street when he heard the little girl crying. He had gone to investigate. He had found a little girl and had picked her up before taking her to the hospital where she was admitted. He had not wanted him to carry her so he had set her down and gone away.
